Editor’s Comment:

I have thoroughly looked at the article based on the reviewers' comments. In general, there were minor corrections needed.

All those corrections have been rectified.

However, a comment by one reviewer regarding "Scale that is used in the study whose validity and reliability not mentioned in the paper" was not properly corrected.

I suggest the author to mention in the methodology section the type of instrument (questionnaire) whether it was self-developed or standardized questionnaire (if standardized questionnaire, the name of the questionnaire, the original author and year should be mentioned and its previous reliability should be specified).

The article is ready to be published after this correction is done.
