PART 2:

FINAL EVALUATOR'S comments on revised paper (if any)	Authors' response to final evaluator's comments
In the abstract, there is: same sex-children. It seems that you are referring to parents that have children of the same sex. Make it clearer, please. “Bold indicates significant value, $P < .05$.” There are *,  indicating the significant values. That is a good and efficient way to make the reader understand your table. The p is if there is a significant difference between both values (SS and OS children). The results that are in bold are not the p but the percentage of SS Children though. What does it mean? What do you want to show when you highlight it?	I added a reference (which I just found) that I think improves this paper. The added text is at lines 317-327 in the attached draft, highlighted in yellow.
