

Editor's Comment:

The manuscript were reviewed by reviewers and corrections were made. However, few corrections should be conducted to further improve the quality of the paper. The considerations are in reviser's comment.

The manuscript entitled "Effect of Dilute Acid and Alkaline Pretreatment of Typha australis (Typha grass) for Bioethanol Production" is now within the scope of the journal after corrections. However, few corrections should be conducted to further improve the quality of the paper presented. The considerations are highlighted in yellow in the article.

I am pleased to inform you that the manuscript is acceptable for publication after this minor correction.
